

itelligence AG gains new mid-market automotive supplier OLHO Group chooses itelligence AG as SAP consultation company

Bielefeld, October 11, 2005 - itelligence AG is implementing its industry solution it.automotive at the mid-market automotive supplier OLHO Technik OHG, Löhne. OLHO Technik OHG has around 450 employees and generated sales of approximately EURO 50 million in 2004. The international group with subsidiaries in Brazil, Portugal, the UK, and the Czech Republic is a leading development supplier for the automotive industry. For OLHO, the aim of the complete changeover to SAP is a uniform IT landscape for the group of companies and the integration of all logistic and commercial processes into one system.

The itelligence consultants will initially remove the various, historically grown IT systems at OLHO. They will be replaced by the industry solution it.automotive in the areas of finance, controlling, sales and logistics, human resources, and production. OLHO will use the benefits in production for detailed planning, materials management, and quality management under SAP. In the case of product life cycle management (PLM), the company uses the document management functions, the management of versions with the aid of the integrated change system, and project management under SAP. OLHO will complete the first major stage of the SAP changeover by April 2006. In the second stage, the roll-out of the SAP system is planned at the subsidiary in the Czech Republic in the first half of 2006.

For Lothar Oleff, Managing Partner of OLHO Technik OHG, it is important that "SAP and the consultation company itelligence are well matched. The itelligence consultants have sound SAP expertise and extensive industry knowledge in the automotive industry. For us, the change to SAP means investment security with the prospect of always having state-of-the-art technology."
